THE MONTHLY OPERATOR CHECK-IN

Six gauges, one page a month,
no lying to yourself.

ONE PAGE A MONTH

The full Six Jobs Audit is a deep, twenty-four-prompt examination you run once or twice a year. This is its small, fast sibling: six scores, one highlight, one number, fifteen minutes, on the same day every month. Rent day works; so does the first Monday.

Score each job 1–5. The scores are less important than the trend, and the trend is less important than the habit of looking. A career drifts one unwatched month at a time; this page is the watching.

The rule: score it from evidence, not from mood. “CONNECT: 4” means you can point at the emails captured and the replies sent. If you cannot point at anything, that is a 1, and a 1 written honestly is worth more than a 3 written kindly.

CREATE

Did the art move? Songs written, versions finished, sessions kept.

BUILD

Did the machine improve? One system, template, or tool made better.

DISTRIBUTE

Did the work reach people? Releases, shows, pitches actually sent.

CONNECT

Did the direct line grow? Emails captured, replies sent, rooms shown up in.

MONETIZE

Did money get respected? Invoices out, costs known, one number watched.

SERVE

Did anyone get helped? The audience, the scene, the person who waited after.

“What gets a number gets noticed. What stays a feeling stays stuck.”

THE HIGHLIGHT — THE ONE THING THIS MONTH THAT A YEAR-AGO YOU WOULD NOT BELIEVE

THE ONE NUMBER — THE METRIC YOU ARE WATCHING THIS SEASON, AND ITS VALUE TODAY

NEXT MONTH'S LOWEST-SCORE MOVE — ONE ACTION AIMED AT THE WEAKEST GAUGE ABOVE

TREND CHECK — Pull last month's sheet. Which gauge moved up? Which moved down? Two months down in a row is not a mood; it is a signal.

This sheet is the monthly companion to The Six Jobs Audit, the full diagnostic from THE ARTIST OPERATOR: How Musicians Win in the Age of AI, and Why the Future Still Belongs to Humans by Jamil Apostol. Run the deep audit twice a year; run this page every month in between. When a gauge stays low for a season, The 30-Day Operator Sprint exists to fix exactly that.

And when the one number you watch deserves better than a pencil line, Headline.world is being built to track it for you: booking pipeline, merch counts, fan list growth, and the money, in one place. Print twelve copies of the sheet, staple them, and you have a year of honesty for the cost of a printer cartridge.
